

Every year you get smarter.

Every year you need a flu vaccine.

The flu is unpredictable from year to year, so if you got a vaccine last year, you still need to get vaccinated again this season. In fact, everyone 6 months and older should get a flu vaccine every year — even if you're healthy, because the flu can be serious for healthy young people, too.

Get the vaccine.
It's the best way to prevent the flu.
