Joan Mann
Board Member
Families Fighting Flu

Joan Mann is a current Board Member for Families Fighting Flu, a national nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to saving lives and reducing hospitalizations by protecting children, families, and communities against influenza through education and advocacy. Joan originally came to Families Fighting Flu in 2013 following the loss of her 36-year-old daughter, Kendra. Joan also serves as the Executive Director for Kendra’s Legacy Foundation, which sponsors flu vaccination clinics at local schools, churches, and county health departments near Kansas City, Kansas. Joan is a strong advocate for raising awareness about the seriousness of flu and the critical importance of annual flu vaccination for everyone six months and older.
